
T-Mobile Montenegro launches the Inbound Roaming Service

Amsterdam, March 29th – T-Mobile Montenegro became a new mobile partner of Travelling Connect who will be rewarding its guest customers with frequent flyer air miles or hotel points for roaming in its network.

A holiday paradise at the magnificent shores of the Adriatic Sea, Montenegro hosts thousands of visitors each year, and just before a tourist season begins, T-Mobile presents a loyalty program for the inbound roamers whereby they can earn valuable airline miles or hotel points by roaming in T-Mobile network.

Members of more than 20 well known loyalty programs can benefit from the service. All they have to do is register to the Inbound Roaming Service at Travelling Connect website and manually choose T-Mobile network while staying in Montenegro. Airline miles or hotel points can be earned for every outgoing call.

T-Mobile Montenegro is the 21st mobile operator (the fourth in Europe) to join Inbound Roaming Service. With a presence in Europe, Asia, Middle East, Africa and the Caribbean, Travelling Connect offers the most popular loyalty program for roamers.

Marcel Wientjen, managing director of Travelling Connect, commented on a new partnership: "We are glad to welcome T-Mobile on board, and are definite that visitors and tourists of Montenegro will truly appreciate this great opportunity to boost their frequent flyer accounts."

Marcel Wientjen further added: "With our loyalty programs, a roaming service has also its rewards: every extra airline mile or hotel point earned brings a customer closer to getting a free flight, a free hotel stay or other numerous awards of his loyalty program. In this sense the Inbound Roaming Program acts not only as a stimulant to choose a participating network, but also to use a roaming service in general."
